HEAVEN INVOKED TO WITNESS DEFENDANT'S INNOCENCE.

It Appears That Prefessionals Are Not So. shy as the More Conventional of Wemankind of Helding Business Interviews in Their Sleeping Rooms.

Daniel M. Brady, president of the Brady of State Brass Company, took the witness stand again yesterday at the trial before Justice Leventritt and a jury in the Supreme Court of the suit for absolute divorce brought against him by Sadie V. Brady, granddaughter of Isaac M. Singer, the sewing meeting man.

Mr. Brady shouted his answers, calling dramatically on heaven to witness the truth of his denial that he had been guilty of improper conduct with Gertrude MacKenzie, once Fairy Queen in "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast" and later the Charming Prince in "The Wizard of Oz." Mrs. Brady listened attentively both to the testimony of her husband and of the co-

Brady explained his presence in Miss MacKenzie's room in a hotel in Elgin, Ill., late one night as the result of a business circumstance. He had obtained an engagement for Miss MacKenzie in the "Royal Chef" company at $75 a week, the manager was withholding the salary and threaten ing to reduce it and Mr. Brady went to the actress's room that night because she wanted to discuss the matter with him, knowing that he had a considerable acquaintance among theatrical people. The parlor of the hotel wasn't closed, but among professionals it isn't considered out of the way to invite persons to their rooms to discuss business. Mr. Brady said be was in the room fifty-five minutes before the detectives and others rapped on the door. Nothing was mentioned between himself and Miss MacKenzie except business. "The detectives," said counsel for Brady, *have testified that when they entered the room your bair was mussed. Is that so?" "No, sir," exclaimed Brady with warmth, stroking his hair down flat. "It was smooth; just as perfect as it is now." Fairly shouting at the top of his voice, he described as utterly false the statement that Miss MacKenzie locked the door that night; also the testimony of Solkey, the detective, that he put his foot in to keep the door open after the corespondent had opened it a little.

opened it a little.

"It is charged," said Lawyer Ordway,
"that you committed adultery with Miss MacKenzie. Is that true?"

Brady half rose from the witness stand, raised his right arm above his head, and looking straight at his wife, said in a voice that could be heard out in the corridor of the building. As God is my judge that is unqualifiedly

"Are you a drinking man?" was asked.
"I am not." he replied. "I occasionally take a little liquor as a tonic, but that is Brady was asked whether it was true. as the detective testified, that he had visited Little Hungary with the corespondent.

"What is good enough for President Roosevelt is good enough for me," shouted the witness.

the witness.

"Simply answer the questions without any comment," said Justice Leventritt.
Bradv said he never went to Miss Mac-Kenzie's room in the Circle Hotel here, unannounced, and that nine times out of ten when he called Miss MacKenzie's brother was with him. He denied that he had ever paid any of the corespondent's bills, although he admitted that he had registered her name at a hotel in the West.

In regard to his statement as reported by a maid in the house that he was going to get out of this "hell hole," meaning his to get out of this "hell hole," meaning his after living for sixteen years a life of hell."

"Then your home relations were not good looking young woman with light report on the matter, although Mr. Fornes brown hair. She wore a dark blue suit, a sealskin coat and a small blue hat. She contradicted the testimony of the detective that she wore a block suit of the detective that she wore a block suit of the she wore a dark blue suit.

his relations with her were perfectly proper and entirely of a business character. It was not her custom, she said, to receive men in her bedroom after midnight, but as her bedroom was her home she often used it She was married on Dec. 31, she said, to onan named Hodgeons, who held a re-onsible position in a trust company in ronto. Brady knew she was engaged to him all the time

HELD ON COINCIDENCES.

Police Have Decorator Prescott Detained So They May Seek Evidence of Theft.

Harold Prescott, the decorator arrested on Monday night on suspicion of knowing something about the jewelry that was stolen last week from the home of Mrs. Carl Jackson at 51 West Seventieth street, was arraigned yesterday in the West Side court. Detectives Michaels and Donnelly of the West Sixty-eighth street station told the Magistrate that they expected to show that there was generally a robbery wherever to investigate. So far they had not enough evidence to convict Prescott even on the charge on which he was arrested.

He lest worked at a decorating job in the house of Mrs. Jackson and she lost considerable jewelry piece by piece. Several other losers report the same gradual disappearance of property. Prescott lives at 218 West 129th street, and when he was arrested he was out walking with his wife. He stoutly declared that he was an honest man and that Mrs. Jackson had made the biggest mistake of her life when she sus-pected him of being a thief. oted him of being a thief. Magistrate Whitman held the decorator for further examination. Prescott made no statement, and seemed surprised to find so many persons in court who were anxious to look at him. The next time turn to Work in Hudson County. is arraigned the police say they will he is arraigned the police say they will have others.

Prescott was employed as a foreman by J. H. Moran & Co., at 225 Columbus avenue. He has worked for the firm over a year and they thought well of him.

Among those who have lost jewelry after a visit of Prescott are Woodbury Langdon, the yachtsman, who lives at 181st street and the Boulevard Lafayette. He had decorators in his house last year, and when they left he missed a couple of gold watches and a diamond brooch. Prescott, he says, was in charge of the work.

Robert R. Moore, president of the Bank of New Amsterdam, lived in the Nevada apartments last year, and Prescott did of New Amsterdam, lived in the Nevada apartments last year, and Prescott did some decorating there. Mr. Mocra missed jewelry and reported his loss to the police. Other losers are Dr. W. B. Short of 242. Other losers are Dr. W. B. Short of 242. Lenox avenue, A. L. Carroll of 225 West. End avenue, G. W. Potter of 48 West Ninth street, Prof. Thomas W. Surette of 40 West Ninth street and R. N. Mills.

MUTUALIZERS MEET.

No Definite Results Yet Announced About Equitable Life.

Several members of the mutualization committee of the Equitable Life Assurance Society got together yesterday and spent two hours talking things over, but so far as could be learned agreed on nothing

BRADY AND ACTRESS DENY. BOERS DECLARED FILIBUSTERS. Party Bound for Guatemala Stopped at

> New Orleans by Secretary Hay. NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 23. - Secretary of State Hay has decided, in spite of the letter of President Cabrera of Guatemala to the ntrary, that the Boers going to Central America are filibusters and not legitimate immigrants, and a party which was to have started to-day on the steamer Anselm was stopped by order of the Department

This is the second party whose departure from this country has been stopped in the last two weeks. The Guatemalan representatives still protest that the men were immigrants and that the Central American Republic has been greatly injured by preventing these men going to Guatemala after 10,000 immigrants had been shipped

FIVE FERRIES TO QUIT

Unless the city consents to some readjustment of the compensation paid by the Nelson and Dundon found her walking Union Ferry Company for its five East River franchises, the company will stop and H. K. Knapp, treasurer and manager.

They called on the Mayor at the City Hall, and after handing to him a written protest against the charges they are now called upon to pay they told the Mayor that it was impossible for the company to continue operating its ferries unless the city reduced the rentals.

The statement says that when the company, in 1891, on making a ten year lease, agreed to pay 7½ per cent of its gross traffic earnings, the running of trolley cars across Brooklyn Bridge was not foreseen. The Brooklyn Bridge was not loreseen. The Fulton Ferry up to 1898 carried about 10,000,000 passengers yearly; last year it carried only 3,800,000. The Catharine and Wall street ferries also suffered diminution in the receipts of the company, with no possible corresponding reduction of expenses. The fares cannot be raised. es cannot be raised.

fares cannot be raised.

Upon the expiration of the lease in 1901 the company refused to renew it, except on condition that the percentage for rental should be cut at least half. It was the only bidder, and the city refused to accept its terms. Since then the company has been running its boats and has been paying certain rentals; but the city has begun suit to collect raybut the city has begin suit to collect payments on the basis of the original lease. When the tunnel to Brooklyn is built it will tap the profits of the company's two best paying ferries, the Atlantic and Hamilton avenue routes. The statement adds:

on avenue routes. The statement adds:

We have already reached the stage where we are not looking for profit, but self-preservation. There are nearly 400 stockholders, who are looking to us for protection of their ights, and to allow this matter to drift any onger would be a neglect of duty and foreiture of confidence reposed in us by them.

We therefore cannot go on any longer eithout a proper understanding. It is out if the question to be considered holdovers, and a satisfactory readjustment of our retions with the city is absolutely essential o our continued operation of the ferries, caless such a readjustment can be had we ill have no alternative but to discontinue uch operation.

Mr. Fairchild and his colleagues made no proposition to the Mayor. The Mayor eferred the matter to Corporation Counsel

$11,400,000 FOR DOCKS And Staten Island Ferry-New East River Piers.

The Sinking Fund Commission approved vesterday a request from Dock Commissioner Featherson for an appropriation of $14,400,000. Of this amount $5,000,000 i the usual annual issue of bonds for the maintenance and improvement of docks and piers, the remaining $9,400,000 of bonds is to pay for continuing the Chelsea dock inprovements, to provide a new series of piers on the East River from Pier's to Wall street and to pay for the new Staten Island ferryboats and Staten Island terminal acquisitions. Should the bond issue be authorized by the Board of Estimate it will be the largest ever made in one year for the dock department.

Pleasant?"
"That's putting it very delicately," replied the witness.
Brady testified that Miss MacKenzie's hair on the night when the detectives saw him in her room was not "hanging down" will be the largest ever made in one year for the dock department.

A petition was received by the comproposal, first considered in 1903, for the municipalization of the Thirty-minth street municipalization of the Thirty-minth street municipalization of the Thirty-minth street municipalization of the Thirty-minth street. him in her room was not "hanging down her back, but just a little loose behind."

Miss MacKenzie was called. She is a Commissioner Featherson was directed to that she wore a black petticoat on the night when they saw her with Brady.

"If I had been in my petticoat." said she, it would have been red."

She corroborated Brady's testimony that

The conference arranged for between the representatives of the locked out carpenters and the Master Carpenters' Association in the Building Trades Club yesterday, lasted from afternoon until evening, but no definite settlement was reached. The timatum of the employers was that as a preliminary to ending the lockout the new carpenters' union must get a charter from the national executive committee of the Brotherhood. The proposition will be before the national executive com-

A conference with a view to ending the A conference with a view to ending the lockout of the electrical workers was also held yesterday between the officers of the national union and representatives of the Electrical Contractors' Association, but no agreement was reached. Neither side would say where the snag lay.

About 15,000 locked out men are now their start their locked to be started to the start of the started to the started urging their leaders to bring about some kind of a settlement which will save their unions. It is believed that if the lookouts of the carpenters is ended on the employers' terms the other locked out unions may be willing to settle on similar terms.

Prescott worked. They asked more time MAKING NEW SUBWAY SCHEDULE. No Time Fixed Vet for a Conference With the Interborough Employees.

General Manager Hec'ley of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company was still at work vesterday on the new running schedule in the subway to go into effect next Monday. Up to the time his office closed yesterday afternoon he had received no request from the men for a conference. The motormen, who are principally concerned in the new schedule, may wait until it is in operation to see how they like it.

The Interborough officials are waiting to hear the grievances of the other employees stated before talking about them.

tuen to Work in Hudson County. The three weeks building trades lockout in Hudson county, N. J., came to an end in Hidson county, N. J., came to an end yesterday, and the employees, the majority of whom had not enjoyed their enforced idleness, returned to work.

The Building Trades Employers' Association and the United Building Trades Council, the central organization of the mions, agreed to leave the settlement of the differences in the steamfitting trade to a straight white the settlement of the contraction of the steamfitting trade to a special arbitration committee

The Sult Against Yung Wing.

To THE EDITOR OF THE SUN-SHI-Re-ferring to the statement published in your paper yesterday that Dr. Yung Wing says the for breach of contract was an attempt at blackmail, I beg to say that this is a serious cherge, and neither Mr. Ballantine nor mysel

CURATE HAS WOMAN ARRESTED

WHO CALLS HERSELF BY HIS NAME AND TAGS HIM AROUND. Wakeman of 118 Washington street, East

She Tells the Police She Is Helen Monahan. but at Her Lodgings Gave the Name "Mrs. Deyo"-The Rev. Mr. Deyo Wearles of It After Long Annoyance.

A little widow who described herself to the police as Helen Monahan, but who was known at her lodgings, 158 East Twentyeighth street, as Mrs. Deyo, was arrested yesterday morning at the behest of the Rev. George N. Deyo, curate of St. Augustine's Chapel (Trinity Parish) in East Houston street. The curate charged her with following and persistently annoying

The widow's pursuit of the curate first came to public notice on Monday night, when Mr. Devo. who was visiting a friend at 129 West 111th street, sent word to the police of the West 125th street station that a woman was shadowing him. Detectives up and down the street opposite the house. They asked her mission, at which she rerunning its boats. That ultimatum was ferred them to Mr. Deyo. The curate delivered yesterday to Mayor McClellan told them he thought the woman was crazy by Julian D. Fairchild, president of the and had the notion that she was in love empany; Alexander E. Orr, vice-president, with him. The detectives gave the clergyman safe conduct to a car homeward bound.

The woman followed on the next car. The next two days the little widow walked up and down East Houston street near the chapel, and Mr. Deyo, after a consultation with the vicar, the Rev. Dr. Arthur C. Kimber, decided to have her arrested. The warrant was obtained on Wednesday afternoon, but Mr. Deyo did not have it served until yesterday morning, not wishing to imprison the woman for a night before her arraignment.

Policeman Martin Schroeder found Mrs. Monahan as she was coming out of her lodging house yesterday morning. She insisted on walking to the East Fifty-seventh street court and appeared to enjoy the journey of thirty blocks more than Schroe-der did. Magistrate Moss held the exami-der did. Magistrate Moss held the examiration in his private room, where the Rev.

Mr. Deyo was waiting. The widow's answers were snappy.

"I have no explanation," she said, when the Magistrate had told her the charge.

"If I have annoyed him I am sorry for it."
Mrs. Monahan said she didn't want a lawyer and she refused to say why she tagged the curate and wrote letters to him.

"Mr. Deyo does not wish this anuoyance to continue." said Magistrate Moss, "and it must cease."

"I am able to look to my own actions," replied the widow. "I think it advisable that you should be examined as to your mental condition," continued the Magistrate.

"I am all right, mentally and physically," said the prisoner.

She was held for further examination to-morrow and in the meantime her sanity to-morrow, and in the meantime her sanity will be put to the test.

The Rev. Mr. Deyo denied himself to interviewers yesterday afternoon at the chapel, where he lives, and the vicar did his talking for him.

"I am sure the woman is crazy, said the Rev. Dr. Kimber. "She has been annoying Mr. Deyo since last summer. She has written to me as well as to him, but the letter I received from her was absolutely unintelligible. I do not think she is violent or dangerous, but Mr. Deyo is sensitive and somewhat delicate and the experience has been trying to him. I do not think and somewhat delicate and the experience has been trying to him. I do not think that Mr. Deyo ever had any conversation with the woman although she has addressed him on the street. She was not an attendant at this chapel. I believe she formerly went to Calvary Chapel."

The folks at 158 East Twenty-eighth street were surprised to learn that their quiet lodger had been arrested and equally surprised to know that she called herself Mrs. Monahan.

"We always knew her as Mrs. Deyo," said.

She was a very quiet person and we knew little about her other than that her parents came from England and that she said she was a nurse. She went out to work every morning. A tall, light complexioned man called here to see her on Saturday and again on Tuesday, but she was not in. My brother, who answered the door, told me at the time that a clergyman had called to see Mrs. Deyo."

Mrs. Monahan is about 35 years old.

On Sept. 6, 1801. He hurried out of his house to get an extra announcing the shooting of the President, and was so much overcome that he fell onthe front stoop and had to be carried into the house.

Mr. Shanks was born in, Shelbyville, Ky, on April 20, 1837, his father, Sanders Shanks, being the High Sheriff of the county. While still young he went to Louis ville and engaged in newspaper work. He wrote a short skit, which was produced on the

Mrs. Monahan is about 35 years old.

MARRIED HER RESCUER, And Now Gets a Divorce From Him-He Disappeared.

Margaret Allen Downing Stanton obtained yesterday from Justice Fitzgerald the Supreme Court an interlocutory decree of divorce from Gerald N. Stanton to whom she was married in Greenwich, Conn., in 1901, soon after he had saved her from drowning.

They were sailing on the Sound, the boat upset in a storm and Stanton clung to the craft, supporting Miss Downing until rea-

The decree was granted upon the report f John J. Lenahan, referee. All the papers in the case were sealed.

Stanton's father was Gerald N. Stanton a dry goods merchant of this city. His mother lives at 52 East Fifty-third street. Stanton disappeared from home in September, 1903. After a search of several months his wife found him and secured evidence on which to base her action.

VOLUNTEER FIREMAN KILLED. John Hays is Sufficeated While Working at Fire Which Destroyed His Home. John Hays, 45 years old, a volunteer fireman, lost his life at a fire that destroyed Charles Haffner's Neptune Park Hotel, in Charles Hainer's Neptune Park Hotel, in Far Rockaway, early yesterday morning. Hays, who was employed in the Public Highway Department, lived in the hotel and was asleep there when the fire was discovered. Hays, who was a member of Mohawk Hose Company, after seeing that every one was safely out of the hotel, joined his fellow firemen in trying to save some of the contents of the building, which was a three story frame structure and was a three story frame structure and urned rapidly.

Firemen Charles Mott and F. D. Doothemen tharses Molt and F. D. Doo-little were going over the ruins later when they came upon the body of Rays, lying under some charred timber in an alley be-tween the main building of the hotel and the kitchen. He had apparently been over-come by smoke in the alley and been suf-focated.

Miss Sara Alice Lund was married to James. Kilbourne Hyde last night at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Frederic Albert Lund, 512 Madison avenue, by the Rev. Dr. S. De Lancey Townsend, rector of All Angels' Church. The bride wore her great-grandmother's wedding costume of white silk, embroidered and trimmed with lace, and a talle veil caught with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of orchids and lilles of the valley. Mrs. F. A. Lund, the matron of henor, wore white point d'esprit lace over silk and carried white orchids. The Misses Josephine Mabbott and Florence Faulkner, the bridesmaids, wore white point d'esprit embroidered in yellow, with yellow girdles, and carried yellow orchids.

Thomas Havens was best man and Morgan Thomas Havens was best man and Morgan Griswold and Jesse Eddy were ushers. Mr. and Mrs. Hyde will spend their honeymoon

mather—Mills.

Mather—Mills.

Mather—Mills.

Mather—Mills.

Mather—Mills.

Mather—Mills.

Mather—Mills.

Mass Ellen Suydam Mills and Frank Jewett limits and the wind was at one-time the agent of that limits afternoon. The bride is a daughter of A. G. Mills, presions and ministration and was well known among steamship, railroad and immigration people. He was made first deputy clerk of ror intingate friends of the two lamiles. The work of the Contral Presbyterian Church, persons of the Contral Presbyterian Church, persons of the Contral Presbyterian Church, persons of the Central Presbyterian Church Church

HOSTESS COOL DESPITE FIRE. Mrs. Wakeman Refused to Let a Stubborn

Blaze Break Up Her Party. ORANGE, N. J., Feb. 23.-Mrs. James M. Orange, did not allow a fire in her house to interfere with the progress of a Washington's Birthday party which she gave there last night. Instead of alarming her guests she telephoned to fire headquarters and told the men to drive around quietly so as not to disturb any one. Then she ordered her servants to go on and serve supper in the dining room, which was directly beneath the room where the fire

The fire apparatus rolled around quickly and the firemen entered the house. arrival created something of a stir among the guests

You will find the fire in the den upstairs." "You will find the fire in the den upstairs." said Mrs. Wakeman to the foreman of the first company. She then turned to her guests and assured them that nothing was to be feared, and the merriment went on. The Wakeman residence is one of the handsomest along Washington street, and there were many well known people in the house at the time.

The fire had started under a hearth in a "den" on the second floor. The firemen ripped up the hearth and turned the stream from a chemical engine loose on the blaze. The dining room ceiling gave way under

The dining room ceiling gave way under the weight of water and fell directly on the table, but the servants cleared away the wreck, moved the table into another room and spread it there. It took a long time to extinguish the fire, which did $1,500 damage.

RAID MT. VERNON SALOONS. Reformers' Detectives, Disguised as Chilled

Motormen, Make a Dozen Arrests. MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Feb. 23 .- Disguised as motormen and sailors, detectives employed by the Anti-Saloon League, headed by William C. Dodge, got after the liquor dealers of Mount Vernon early this morning and arrested a dozen of them before the word was passed around that a crusade had started. The detectives arrested the proprietor of every place they visited, and the majority of the prisoners spent the night in cells before bondsmen could be secured. Among those arrested could be secured. Among those arrested was former City Clerk William N. Hoyt, who was helping out as bartender in a west side hotel.

Most of the saloonkeepers were arrested as they were about to close up. The supposed motormen and sailors entered the places, complained of the cold and ordered a round of drinks.

"It's after hours," said one hotel keeper, and one of the crowd chimed in, "It isn't too late to serve a white man with a drink when he's half dead from the cold."

The same bluff of suffering from the cold was worked in every case. After the drinks were served Dodge arrested the proprietors and the man who served the liquor. It is said that the Epworth League of Mount Vernon is behind the crusade and that John S. Huyler, who has a number of friends who are interested in church work in this city, is supplying the money. District Attorney J. Addison Young will prosecute the cases. The league is soon to begin similar crusades in Yonkers and New Rochelle.

W. F. G. SHANKS DEAD. Long City Editor of "The Tribune" -- Known as a fear Correspondent.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.
HAMILTON, Bermuda, Feb. 23.—William Franklin Gore Shanks, the New York news-

The folks at 155 East Twenty-eighth street were surprised to learn that their quiet lodger had been arrested and equally surprised to know that she called herself Mrs. Monahan.

"We always knew her as Mrs. Devo," said a young woman at the house. "That was the name she gave when she came here. She was a very quiet person and we knew little about her other than that her parents came from England and that she said she was a nurse. She went out to work every warning at 155 East Twenty-eighth Mr. Shanks had long been suffering from gastritis and other ailments and before going to Bermuda in December he had been confined to his home in Brooklyn for more than a year. He never fully recovered from the shock he received by the news of the murder of President McKinley at Buffalo on Sept. 6, 1901. He hurried out of his home from England and that she said she was a nurse. She went out to work every warning at 155 East Twenty-eighth street were suffering from gastritis and other ailments and before going to Bermuda in December he had been confined to his home in Brooklyn for more than a year. He never fully recovered from the shock he received by the news of the murder of President McKinley at Buffalo on Sept. 6, 1901. He hurried out of his home in Brooklyn for more than a year. He never fully recovered from the shock he received by the news of the murder of President McKinley at Buffalo on Sept. 6, 1901. He hurried out of his home in Brooklyn for more than a year. He never fully recovered from the shock he received by the news of the murder of President McKinley at Buffalo on Sept. 6, 1901. He hurried out of his home in Brooklyn for more than a year.

hort skit, which was produced on stage in Louisville in 1856, the late Mrs. Gilbert being one of the performers. A couple of years later Maggie Mitchell appeared in another dramatic effort of his at the Louisville Opera House, of which He was an ardent Union man, and at the breaking out of the civil war went to the front as a correspondent of the New York Herald. He was on the staff of Gen. Rousau in Gen. Sherman's campaign, and ter was under Gen. Grant. At the close of the war he came north and settled in Brooklyn. He remained with the Herald until 1867, when he joined the staff of Harper's Magazine. He was the author of the index for the first forty volauthor of the index for the first forly vol-umes of the magazine and of "Personal Recollections of Union Generals." In 1869 he went to Washington as the correspond-ent of the New York Times and a year later became a member of the staff of the Tribune, with which paper he remained until 1881, most of the time as city editor. After serving as managing editor of the Star for a couple of years he founded the National Press Intelligence Company in 1885, and became its president. The Daily and Weekly Bond Buyer was an outgrowth of this con

Mr. Shanks's wife died a couple of years ago. He is survived by three sons, Sanders Shanks, the well known Brooklyn lawyer, Lynn Hudson Shanks and William Rousseau The body will be brought Brooklyn and the interment will be in Cove Hill cemetery, Louisville.

Oblinary Notes. The Rev. Dr. Jacob Shaw Shipman, Rector

Emeritus of Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, died at Whitesboro, N. Y., early vesterdsy morning. In May, 1901, he suffered to give up active work. Dr. Shipman was born at Niagara Falls. His father had re-moved from St. Catherine's, Canada, which was long known as Shipman's Corners, hav-ing been cettled by Dr. Shipman's grandfather. The son entered Yale in the class of 1855, but in health compelled him to withfather. The son entered vale in the class of 1855, but in health compelled him to withdraw, if e was ordained a priest by Bishop belancey in Trinity Church, Utica, in 1858. His first charge was the united parishes of St. John's, Whitesboro, and St. Peter's, Oriskany, In 1859 he married a young widow, who was Miss Ann Louise Gold. The same year he accepted a call to Christ Church, Mobile, the oldest parish in Alabama. In 1862 he became rector of Christ Church, Lexington, Ky, and on Nov. 9, 1877, he became rector of Christ Church, Lexington of Christ Church, New York. Before leaving Lexington he had come within one vote of being elected bishop of Kentucky, and had declined the Bishopric of Fond du Lac. He held the degree of D. D. from Trinity and of D. C. L. from Kenyon. He is survived by five children the Rev. Herbert Shipman, chaplain of the West Point Military Academy: Raymond Shipman of New Orleans, Mrs. W. S. Andrews of Syracuse, wife of Supreme Court Justice Andrews, Mrs. W. H. Burr, wife of Prof. Burr of Columbia University, the Isthmian Canal Commissioner, and Mrs. Henry Fiuffard of Chicago. Incebrigh Gemre of Fort Wadsworth, Staten Island, died on Wednesday of brain abscess and meningitis. He was 52 years old. He was born in Stavanger, Norway, and belonged to the well known Giemre family, which was for generations identified with Norwegian and later with British shipping. Mr. Gemre for many years was

The Wanamajer Store.

Store Closes at 5.30 o'clock.

Our February Furniture Sale Makes a Remarkable Presentation of

Period Bedroom Furniture Made by the

Pooley Manufacturing Company

A showing of Furniture of the character of that in the present assemblage is in itself a matter of unusual interest to those who contemplate the furnishing of beautiful homes. Probably, never before have so many superb bedroom suites been exhibited and offered for sale at one time in any retail store; yet this entire superb collection will be offered at about a third below the usual value-This furniture is made by the concern that furnished the magnificent Hotel St. Regis, and is of the same quality and finish-made by hand, by the same craftsmen. The Bedroom Suites are in authentic reproduction of the handicraft of the famous Louis periods—and there is perhaps only one manufacturing concern in the United States that could make them in this superb manner, and that is the Pooley Furniture Company, from whom these come.

The woods include exquisite natural mahogany, Circassian walnut, imported from the Black Sea district, and superb stained mahogany. One is all white enamel, with gilded cane panels. Every bit of work on these Suites has been done by Pooley craftsmen absolutely by hand; practically not a machine has touched it since the lumber was in shape to be worked by hand. In addition to the Bedroom Suites there is a superb collection of Gold Furniture from the same concern-exquisite specimens of the finest gold furniture made in America. This announcement will be welcomed by people who have in mind the furnishing of fine

An opportunity like this is most extraordinary; and although the Suites are rather expensive, even at their new prices, they will probably be claimed by people who will be glad to save from two to five hundred dollars on this very important purchase. Louis XVI. Bedroom Suite. $1020 instead of $1610 | glass; exquisitely carved. Wood of rare markings, finished chiffonnier, somnoe, toilet table, writing table and bedroom table. This suite is made of what is known to the trade as Louis XVI. Bedroom Suite, $540 instead of $815-

Louis XV. Bedroom Suite, $1025 instead of $1750- hogany, dull finish. bureau, chiffonnier, somnoe and bedroom table. Mouldings The wood used in this suite is of very beautiful | dull-finished sycamore.

Louis XV. Bedroom Suite, $615 instead of $960 marked mahogany; the drawer-fronts and panels are done in | gold leaf with burnished high lights.

Louis XV. Bedroom Suite, $1000 instead of $1500-

White mahogany Suite, consisting of twin bedsteads, bureau a fine natural red; mouldings and carvings in gold leaf; drawerinteriors in dull finished mahogany.

"Fiddle Back" mahogany, which is most rare in its markings | Mahogany Suite, consisting of twin bedsteads, bureau and and quality. The carvings and mouldings are beautifully chiffonnier; beautifully figured mahogany, highly polished; worked; the drawer-interiors are of dull finished sycamore. richly carved and moulded; drawer-interiors in natural ma-

Mahogany and gold Suite, consisting of twin bedsteads. Louis XV. Bedroom Suite, $525 instead of $825-Mahogany Suite, consisting of large double bedstead, bureau, and cervings are of fine execution, and are finished in gold with chiffonnier, toilet table and washstand; elaborately carved burnished high lights; drawer-interiors are done in sycamore, and moulded, and beautifully polished; drawer-interiors in

Louis XVI. Bedroom Suite, $350 instead of $525-White enameled and gold Suite, consisting of twin bedsteads, Mahogany Suite, consisting of twin bedsteads, bureau, chif- bureau and chiffonnier; bedsteads have double cane panels in fonnier, somnoe and writing table. The wood-work is of finely the head and foot-boards; carvings and mouldings are done in marquetry of mother-of-pearl and rare woods; drawer-in- Louis XV. Bedroom Suite, $895 Instead of $1360-

Circassian walnut Suite, consisting of twin bedsteads, bureau. chiffennier, somnoe and writing table. Selected wood of rare Natural mahogany Suite, consisting of twin bedsteads, figure, beautifully finished; mouldings and carvings of finest Broadway. Fourth Ave., 9th and 10th Sts.

bureau, chiffonnier, somnoe, toilet table, bedroom table, cheval execution; drawer-interiors of sycamore. There will be four or five other suites and some odd pieces of the same exquisite workmanship

JOHN WANAMAKER

Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co.

CLEAN SHAVE HIS DISGUISE

Bayarian Merchant Arrested Here; Ac-Bamberg, Bayaria, charged by the German Consulate with forgery, was sent to the Tombs yesterday by United States Commissioner Alexander. It is alieged that when he failed some three years ago forged paper on which he had secured $30,000 was held by the Bayerische Bank, Bamberg, alone. Leh-Bayerische Bank, Bamberg, alone. Lehman, a private banker at Bamberg, and the Mitteldeutsche Creditbank Filiale at Nuremberg, were also caught by forged notes. Altogether the complaint alleges sixty-eight forgeries.

Stern came to this country before the disclosure and went to live in Cincinnati, where he has a brother-in-law. He afterward removed to Philadelphia. He came to this city about two weeks ago, renting apartments for his wife and three children at 674 East 141st street. at 674 East 141st street.

at 674 East 141st street.

In Bamberg Stern carefully cultivated luxuriant dark brown whiskers, and a photograph with his face so ornamented was the only likeness in Deputy Marshal Bernhard's possession when the case was turned over to him on Monday. Bernhard says it is as difficult to find a Bavarian with a clean shave as to find a murderer in Chinatown, and it is to a complete disin Chinatown, and it is to a complete dis ruise of this kind that he attributes Stern's ong escape from arrest.

Stern found employment here as a salesman, selling wrapping paper to butchers.

Moritz Stern, formerly a merchant of James McCreery & Co.

Ladies' Coat Dept. Tan Covert Cloth Coats, for immediate wear. 14.50.

Black Broadcloth, three quarter length Coats. Loose or semi-fitting models. 17.00 and 23.00.

Twenty-third Street.

A SPIRITUALIST'S ADVICE

Caused Miss Allen to Accuse Miss Lynch

and Get Into Trouble Herseif. Miss Lydia Allen, 17 years old, who is employed in the money order department of the Wells-Fargo Express Company in this city. told Police Justice Manning in the Second late," said Ream Brummel, "to

HERE'S FOUR CHANCE IF TOU'LL SEIZE

IT NOW.

ALL OUR REMAINING STOCKS OF SACE OVERCOATS AND SACE

$12.00

THEY WERE FROM $15 TO $20, AND THERE ARE GOOD PICKINGS STILL AMONG THE HIGHER PRICED

Felton st. and Dekalb ava.

Baltle Signalled

The White Star colossus Baltic, from Liverpool and Queenstown, utilized her new wireless equipment at 3:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon by communicating with the Nantucket lightship. She will be up at her dock this morning.